With the arrest and release of another man in the death of John Goldner, Salem man whose body was found in a field, one and one-half miles south of this city, last October, authorities are today renewing active investigations of the murder mystery, which has baffled both city and county authorities for the past five months.

The case was reopened Wednesday, when Patrolman Ralph Stoffer arrested a motorist on Main st. for a traffic violation. The man drove his machine to the side of the street and Stoffer recognized him as a party wanted by Police Chief T. W. Thompson for questioning in the case.

The man was taken to city hall where he was grilled for several hours by Thompson and Stoffer.

Continual questioning, police report, failed to throw any light on the mystery, and they released him at 4 o'clock.

Present at Party

The man, police believe, was present at a party with Goldner, at a Liberty at residence, the night before Goldner's death on Monday, Oct. 9. He is said to have disappeared from the party a few hours after the time Goldner is believed to have been killed. Police had been on the lookout for him for the past five months, they state.

Goldner's body had been found in a field, outside the corporation limits, south of the city, by two boys. He had apparently gone in search of wild honey, and a deep wound in his left side, led police to believe at first that death had been accidental, and that he had struck himself with an axe he was using to chop a limb from a tree.

Cornelius J. M. Van Fossan, on Tuesday, Oct. 10, issued a verdict of "death at the hands of a party or parties unknown" after it was ascertained that the cash in his side was a gunshot wound. It later developed, through the coroner's investigations, that Goldner, previous to the shooting, had been struck on the head with a blunt object, causing serious concussion of the brain. He had been shot while lying on the ground.

More than 100 suspects were questioned by Salem police and county authorities. All claimed innocence in the affair, and authorities were forced to release them due to lack of evidence.

JUDGE LONES TO RULE ON APPEAL OF VOGELHUBER

Teofil Andrei Also Asks
Court Action In His Case

Lisbon, Mar. 21.—Decisions in two important Salem liquor cases will be submitted in common pleas court, by Judge W. Frank Lones, Friday.

An opinion in the case of Sam Vogelhuber, alleged Salem bootlegger, who filed application Monday, for his release from county jail, by habeas corpus proceedings, through his counsel, Homer Hickling, will be handed down tomorrow morning.

Vogelhuber applied for the writ, Judge Lones accepting the application, but reserved his decision in the case until a later date.

The second judgment to be submitted in the case of Teofil Andrei, Salem, charged with third violation of the Crabbe law, Andrei has been indicted by the February grand jury on the charge, and through his counsel, Atty. K. L. Couborn, has filed a motion to suppress evidence in the case.

The matter went before the court last week. Prosecuting Attorney John E. Bauknecht representing the state.

Vogelhuber is also charged with third violation of the state liquor law, and entered a plea of guilty before Mayor Phil G. Hiddleston, two weeks ago, to possession of implements designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors.

He is now being held at county jail under an execution of sentence, forwarded Mayor Hiddleston, after Lones upheld a previous judgment of the Salem court in finding Vogelhuber guilty of possession of intoxicating liquors.

Vogelhuber's attorney bases his claim for a habeas corpus writ on the grounds that the ordinance under which his client was found guilty was illegal.

FEAR FOUL PLAY; QUESTION SUSPECT

Friends Think Man May Be Visiting In Other City

Foul play, in the disappearance of John J. Hendricks, who was last seen in this city late Monday night after he had left his home at 237 East High st. with a friend, is feared by Salem police.

Several persons were questioned by Police Chief T. W. Thompson and Patrolman Ralph Stoffer on the case, Tuesday and Wednesday without result. Hendricks is reported to have had about $50 in cash with him, at the time of his disappearance.

The man left home, Monday night, with a friend who brought him to the postoffice building in his automobile. There, according to police, Hendricks left, stating he wished to buy a magazine at one of the downtown stores.

He started up Main st. and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Hendricks, when questioned Wednesday afternoon admitted her husband was missing but refused to advance any reason for his disappearance.

The man with whom Hendricks rode down town was held Tuesday night, in city jail, for questioning, but was released after friends furnished alibi.

Other parties interviewed by the authorities were also released.

Friends of the man disclaim the theory of violence, stating that he probably is visiting with friends in a nearby city. He is said to have friends in Pittsburgh with whom he would be at the present time.

Police are unable to issue any statements on the case other than to admit that they are working 24 hours a day in efforts to locate him. They have no clue whatever, to his whereabouts.

Prima Donna Of Seasons Makes Debut In Salem

Miss Spring, 1929, made her bow on the atmospheric stage today. She was given a rousing welcome. The sun beamed forth its pleasure, the air extended warm greetings, and the citizenry of Salem basked in the reflection, happily and contentedly.

And while she pivoted on the pedestal of fame, displaying her rich cloak of green, the villain of the annual play sneaked in. His appearance, contrary to expectations, was not greeted with hisses. In fact, the audience tendered him a sympathetic welcome, for who is he, but spring fever.

Showers will be given for Miss Spring in nearly all parts of Ohio tonight, according to her stage-manager, the weatherman.

Temperatures will mount well into the 50's and the early 60's in honor of nature's newest queen, according to forecasts.

War to Fly Over
American Soil

Dayton, Mar. 21.—Three large war planes, mounting guns and bomb racks, and manned by Mexican aviators, hopped off from here today for an unannounced destination at the Mexican border to participate in federal warfare against the insurgents there.

This is the first time foreign war planes, fully equipped, have flown across American soil and special dispensation from the government was obtained through diplomatic channels.

The immediate destination was Kelly Field, Texas, from whence they will fly over Mexico.

The three pilots are expert machine-gunners and are trained in bombing work. They are Col. Samuel Rojas, Lieutenants Paul Azcarate and Rodolfo Forbes, of the Mexican Royal Air forces.

A plane from Wright Field here will escort the other ships to the Mexican border.

SUNDAY MOVIE PROBLEM FACES OHIO SENATORS

Bill Would Permit Shows

GAS TAX INCREASE MAY BE KILLED

Salary Increase For County Officials
Favored

Columbus, Mar. 21.—The senate judiciary committee today continued to wrestle with the problem as to whether it should recommend passage of the Marshall bill which would permit motion picture shows on Sundays, after 1 p. m. when authorized by municipal councils or by a vote of the people.

Heated argument for and against this measure featured a session of the committee last night.

Although the house highway committee, by a vote of 10 to 3, at a hearing last night, registered its approval of the Sullivan bill raising the state gasoline tax to four cents from three cents per gallon, administration leaders today voiced the hope that this bill will be killed.

Favor Other Method

Instead of providing revenue through an increase in the gasoline tax, these leaders favor an appropriation of about $1,500,000 a year from the state's general revenue fund for use in improving township roads.

It was admitted, however, that if this latter plan is consummated, it will be necessary to reduce appropriations for new buildings at state institutions, universities and colleges about $1,500,000 a year.

The redrafted Herbert-Martin bill, recodifying Ohio's election laws was recommended for passage by the senate elections committee last night.

The bill is to be voted on next week.

The senate judiciary committee recommended passage of the Ackerman bill increasing salaries of all county officials, except coroner, on a sliding scale, based upon population.

Defeat of the initiated bill, to provide a separate state board to examine and license chiropractors, and the Ackerman bill, permitting colleges and other institutions to conduct land for expansion purposes, featured activities in the house late yesterday. The chiropractor's bill was defeated by a vote of 28 to 84. The vote on the Ackerman bill was (Continued on Page 4)

MEXICAN REBEL CHIEFTAIN SHOT

Jesus M. Aguirre Faces Firing Squad For Part In Revolt

Mexico City, March 21.—General Jesus M. Aguirre, leader of the revolutionary movement in Vera Cruz, coolly faced a firing squad at Almagres early today and died like the soldier he was.

Aguirre had been captured at Aguacatlan, in the southern part of Vera Cruz, late yesterday. The few troops who had remained loyal to him to the end put up a brief battle against his federal pursuers.

In the fray, General Manuel Aleman, of the federal army, was killed.

Under orders from President Portes Gil and War Secretary Calles, General Miguel M. Acosta, federal commander in the state of Vera Cruz, convened a summary court martial immediately after Aguirre's capture. The court martial found the rebel commander guilty of high treason.

Aguirre accepted his fate calmly, stating that he was perfectly willing to suffer the consequences of his part in the revolt.

"I am a soldier and know how to die," he said as he was led before the firing squad. He maintained his dignity to the last.

REBELS ATTACK MAZATLAN WITH STRONG FORCE

Capture of Port Would

COULD CUT OFF FEDERAL LIASON

Government General In Refusal To Give Over City

Mexico City, March 21.—President Portes Gil officially announced this morning that the Rebels in Sinaloa under Gen. Ramon Iturbide attacked the west coast port of Mazatlan with a strong force at 7 o'clock last night.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last night, Gen. Iturbide, who is a former governor of the state of Sinaloa, sent word to Gen. Jaime Carrillo, federal commander at Mazatlan, asking for a conference and demanding surrender of the port.

Gen. Carrillo replied that he would discuss nothing but the unconditional surrender of the Rebels. Gen. Iturbide retorted that he would attack with an overwhelming force.

An hour later he began his attack along a five mile front. The Federal force of 2,000 defending the town was already in position upon the high hills encircling the city. No further details were received here.

Gen. Iturbide's offensive is being waged not only for the control of Mazatlan, which is the most important seaport on the western coast of Mexico but also for the possession of the Mexican Southern Pacific railway.

The eventual Rebel objective is Guadaluajara, Jalisco. If they can capture Mazatlan, the Rebels hope to move south and east and attempt to cut Gen. Calles' line of communications in Central Mexico.

Earhart Fired FROM DRY POST IN OHIO LEAGUE

'Economic' Reasons Given
As Cause For His Resignation

RUMOR STATEMENTS WERE REAL CAUSE

Attacked Rural Police
Bill As Surrender
To Wet Group

Columbus, O., March 21.—Charles M. Earhart, attorney for the Anti-Saloon league, who recently "spoke out of his turn" in branding the Ackerman rural police bill, as a surrender to the wet element, has been "fired" from the dry organization.

This became known today, when officials of the league asked for his immediate resignation because of "economic reasons." F. L. Dustman, editor of the American Issue, the official publication of the league, made the announcement.

In explaining the action, Dustman declared that only Ohio and one other state have employed full-time attorneys. It is for economic reasons, he said, that Earhart's resignation is asked. If we need an attorney, Roy Dague, superintendent of the Toledo district, can handle the work.

Well Known Lobbyist

Earhart is probably the best known lobbyist, who attends session of the Ohio legislature. He has been the storm center of many of the league's campaigns.

The "crescendo" in his political career was reached two years ago, when he, as an attorney for the Anti-Saloon league, backed the Marshall bill, which would have restored justices of the peace the powers they once held, particularly in the handling of liquor cases.

In a referendum vote that followed, the measure was defeated by more than 400,000 votes.

A furor of excitement swept the state last week, when Earhart, supposedly issuing a statement on behalf of the Anti-Saloon league, attacked the Ackerman rural police measure and branded it as a surrender to the "wet element," in Ohio.

Dr. E. J. Moore, superintendent of the league, then denied that Earhart was speaking on behalf of the dry organization.

The issuance of this statement by Earhart is believed to have prompted officials to request the resignation, even though Dustman announced it for "economic reasons."

Divorced Man Slays Woman

Four Sisters Motherless Because Of Killing; Slayer Then
Ends Own Life

Cleveland, March 21.—Four sisters were motherless today as the result of a domestic tragedy last night when their former step-father shot his divorced wife and later took his own life by throwing himself in the path of a railroad train. John Debeute, 34, last night went to the home of Mrs. Mary Debeute, 35, who divorced him a week ago.

Mrs. Debeute's four daughters by a previous marriage, Mary Ekraha, 17, Julia, 11, Jennie, 14, and Rose, 13, were present.

When the divorced pair began to quarrel Jennie and Rose left to summon police. While the other two girls looked on in horror Debeute drew a pistol, shot and mortally wounded Mrs. Debeute, and then turned the gun on himself.

He pulled the trigger twice, the two daughters deleted, but it is believed the gun missed fire.

Rescue Workers State One Hundred May Not Survive; Many Saved

Fire After Blast Hampers Experts' Work

Charge of Directing Efforts

Kinloch Mine, near Parnassus, Pa., Mar. 21.—Hope that most of the 200 or more men still entombed in the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal company by a gas explosion early today may be rescued was expressed by grimy rescue crews which penetrated the flame-swept working of the mine.

At noon 135 miners had escaped from the wrecked workings, and others were believed on their way to safety.

At that hour it was believed that approximately 300 men originally had been entombed.

Groups of men emerged from the wrecked workings at two entries, 37 men escaping through the entries of the Valley Camp mine, workings of which join the Kinloch mine underground.

100 May Be Dead

Men fought their way out of the blast torn mine, in a steady stream. They were members of two of the three groups or sections of miners employed there. A third group, which may number 100 men has not been reached, and it is thought they are in the gravest danger if not already dead.

Grimy men, their clothing in tatters, fought their way through the valley camp entries. The group still unreached in the survivors is closest to the tipple of the Kinloch mine which is in flames.

The flaming tipple shot tongues of fire 60 feet into the air, as firemen battled to extinguish it.

The survivors poured into emergency first aid camps in a steady stream, most of them suffering from the shock of their experiences.

The fact that the Kinloch mine and the Valley Camp mine meet underground and have a passageway connecting them probably saved the lives of the survivors, for the flame apparently was between (Continued on Page 4)

FRANCE PAYING FOCH TRIBUTE

Body of Famous Soldier
Lies In State In Paris Home

Paris, March 21.—The highest honors the French republic can confer upon a passing warrior and national hero will mark the funeral of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies at the end of the Great war, who died late yesterday.

Attired in the field uniform of a marshal of France, the body lay at rest today while a steady stream of notables visited the Foch home to extend their condolences to the widow.

Marshal Joffre, the hero of the first battle of the Marne, and Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador to France, called at noon.

King Albert of Belgium, who served under Marshal Foch as commander of the Belgian army, telegraphed that he would arrive this afternoon to express in person his sorrow over the passing of the noted soldier.

Berlin, March 21.—Germany today viewed Marshal Foch's death as merely the death of her bitterest enemy.

The Berliner Tageblatt summed up Democratic-Liberal thought by saying:

"What Marshal Foch did during the war was his duty. But Germany hardly forgets that he continued, after peace, to make war against a disarmed people."

All the newspapers united in declaring that "bitter hatred of Germany was Marshal Foch's guiding motive."

But German war leaders refused to comment.

Gen. Ludendorff, upon being asked by International News Service for a statement said:

"I am sorry but I must decline on principle to say anything."

DRY VESSELS UNDER U. S. FLAG

The recent cable from Bremen, intimating that shortly after the vessels of the United States and American Merchant lines are taken over by the Chapman interests their bars will be dusted off and their barrooms reopened, has aroused much newspaper comment and, incidentally, brought out from officials of the purchasing organization what are taken as refutations of the story.

Joseph E. Sheedy, vice-president and general manager of the Chapman shipping interests, has denied that any consideration was being given to such a plan, at the same time remarking: "If we obtain and operate these ships, we will live within the law."

Charles A. Howard, another official of the organization, talked at greater length on the subject, and in so doing, left an impression that there might be something in the Bremen story. He said:

"We have been too busy with major problems to consider this feature. We do not know whether the law will permit us to open the bars, and we do not know that public opinion would desire such a change. Of course, we will not do anything illegal."

"If the law permits, we may open the bars on the ships, while on the high seas. We know a great many Americans prefer dry ships. If our ships went wet the patronage might be distributed over a great many vessels. If we remain dry, we might get them all. When the time comes, we will determine our policy."

We believe Mr. Howard in his preference to public opinion has struck what will be the controlling influence in molding the Chapman policy. The vessels of the American Merchant line are largely given up to the transportation of freight. They are equipped for carrying only a very limited number of passengers; something like thirty-two each, if we remember correctly, and thus they do not figure largely in the proposition.

But the wet-or-dry policy of the Chapman interests might cut a decided figure in the popularity of vessels of the United States line, four of which rank high in the esteem of travelers. The President Harding and the President Roosevelt are neither for North Atlantic travel, but the other four are among the most popular vessels sailing from the United States to European ports. The George Washington and the America are the finest two cabin boats afloat and two of the largest, if not the largest, of that class. The Republic, the other cabin liner of the four, is also decidedly popular, being recognized as the most stable vessel afloat in a storm. These, with the mighty first-class liner, Leviathan, despite, or because of, their dryness, have attained a wonderful popularity in recent years. It is a matter of official shipping record that, during the last two years, the Leviathan has carried more passengers than any vessel afloat.

Even could these vessels acquired from the government legally serve liquor outside the 12-mile zone, which is seriously to be doubted; even were they able to stock up with liquor for their eastern voyages outside that limit—an operation which would prove a nuisance in fair weather and not to be thought of in stormy—the hazard they would run in jeopardizing the splendid patronage they have won would be too great to justify the trying-out of the liquor-serving experiment. Good business judgment would and will preclude the taking-on of a hazard of that kind. The line's vessels would lose the one advantage they possess over all the vessels sailing under other flags for the chance of participating in a traffic divided among foreign-flag vessels. It would be trading a certain asset for what would probably prove a liability.

CIRCULATION OF SPLEEN AND LYMPHATIC

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Scientists have studied the body for so many years that it would seem they must have found out all there is to know. But they haven't. Every few months somebody announces another discovery.

It took a long time to discover a few things about the "lymphatics" and the "lymph system." All of our tissues, probably every cell of the body, are bathed in a colorless fluid called the lymph. This fluid circulates within the tissues. It does not do this as the blood does, in closed vessels. But somehow or other it finds its way along, always in the direction of the heart.

It used to be said that the general pressure of the bodily tissues and the action of the muscles caused the flow of lymph. Now come research workers, who think the lymph may be encouraged in its flow by the spleen. This is a structure usually referred to as a gland.

These scientists think the squeezing force of the muscles is not a satisfactory explanation of why the lymph moves on its course. Here is what one recent writer proposes as an explanation. "It seems within the realm of probability that the spleen normally plays an important part in the promotion of the lymphatic circulation. It may be proved to be the 'heart' of the system."

This is interesting because it

What Others Say

NOT MUCH OF A MYSTERY

Commenting on the recent death of Oscar Underwood, a veteran Washington correspondent recalls that when the Alabamian was in the house, before his elevation to the senate, there were also in the house John Sharpe Williams, James R. Mann, and a host of others just as able and brilliant; and that there were in the senate, in that same era, such giants as Dolliver and Lodge, and a great many more who were the peers of Dolliver and Lodge.

"It is hard to account for the decline in congress since their day," he continues.

Not so hard. In that day congressmen were nominated by conventions; United States senators were elected by state legislatures. Each convention, as a rule, picked one of its party's ablest members for a congressional nomination. Especially close was this true in any normally close district; mediocrity, or worse, in the nominee, invited defeat. And usually, the dominant party in each state legislature picked a brilliant and creditable son of that party for a senatorship.

There were times, and especially in districts that were not close, when venal politicians, tools of far-reaching interests, won congressional nominations in district conventions. And there were times when a senate seat was bought for corrupt legislation for a Lorimer or a Pomeroy.

Because the citizens of a congressional district sometimes became so careless or apathetic as to elect a corruptible district convention, the direct primary was brought forward as a cure. And because the citizens of a state sometimes became so careless or apathetic as to put corruptible men into the majority of the seats in their state legislature, the direct primary for the nomination of United States senators, and the 17th amendment providing for their direct election, were brought forward as a compound cure.

What foolish cures, viewed retrospectively! If the citizen could not be trusted to choose wisely in the matter of a delegate from his own little precinct, where he knew every body, how can he now be expected to choose wisely among congressional aspirants whom he may have never met, nor even seen? If the voter could not be trusted to pick an honest man for the legislature, from his own little district, how can he now be expected to make a wise selection among utter strangers, scrambling for a senatorial nomination in a state-wide primary?

Ballyhoo has been substituted for the appeal to the individual voter's judgment. And ballyhoo has put mediocrity into the place once occupied by brilliance and ability in the chambers of the nation's capitol.—Minneapolis Journal.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, March 22

THIS day's sidereal operations point to much to be attained by industry, persistency and astuteness. The time of Luna to Saturn encourages earnest effort following upon the explosion of crystallized conditions, assuring substantial rewards for this diligence and steadfastness. But there is a menace of subtlety or fraud in new projects or with close corporations. Also a hint of ill-advised change. A personal connection may assume a sensational or irregular complexion, not wholly wise.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which they may reap rewards for hard labor, patience and fidelity. But they are warned as to some subtlety or intrigue in new ventures, with large companies, and also as to the equivocal nature of a personal advantage. A child born on this day may be disposed to be diligent and industrious, persevering and faithful, in spite of tendencies to intrigue and subtlety, which may be outstanding in its purely personal affiliations.

Life is arched with changing skies.—William Winter.

throws new light on the function of the spleen. This organ is about the size of a small fist. It is situated on the left side of the body, corresponding in location to the liver on the right side.

In disease, the spleen may become enlarged. It is made up largely of blood vessels and under certain conditions may be considerably swollen.

When a boy runs hard, or when anybody exercises violently, he may become conscious of this organ. If it becomes uncomfortably filled with blood there may be a feeling of "stitches" in the left side, overlying the spleen.

There is a disease known to the doctors as "Banti's disease." In this there is found increasing enlargement of the spleen. With it is anemia, a tendency to bleeding here and there, and perhaps jaundice. The liver may be involved, too. It is a disease which may last for years.

The spleen is likely to be involved in malaria and in rickets. It is very sure to be affected in serious infections.

There cannot be good health unless all the cells of the body are well nourished. They cannot be unless the lymph stream operates normally. It seems to take food to every part of the body and to carry away the waste material. That is why I have spoken of them today.

Trans-Atlantic Air Traffic Lines Probable This Year

Epochal Trips of Graf Zeppelin Creates Great Stir In England, France and Germany New Ships Being Built

Berlin, Mar. 21.—The year 1929 is likely to become the historic year for the establishment of regular transatlantic air traffic lines.

Following the pioneer passenger flight of the Graf Zeppelin last year, three countries — England, France and Germany — are now engaged in a race for the blue ribbon of the air Atlantic. America, which accomplished most of the successful pioneer flights, is not in the running.

England is expected to complete the first of her two giant airships in May and to put in transatlantic passenger service to the United States some time during the summer. This airship, the R-100, marks a great advance in airship construction over the Graf. It is one-third larger than the Graf, and also stronger and faster, and will carry 100 passengers with far greater comfort than the Graf could carry its 20 passengers.

Temporary Plan

But the transatlantic service of the R-100 is to be only temporary. It is ultimately destined to be put into service between England and India.

Because of this, and because the Graf Zeppelin has proved itself unsuitable for regular transatlantic passenger service, the airship is being crowded into the background as far as transatlantic air traffic is concerned. The Zeppelin works announce that the plans to put the Graf into service between Spain and Argentina this year have been definitely abandoned and that the Spanish-South American line will not be started till the new Zeppelin, the LZ-128 is completed.

The first permanent transatlantic air line will therefore probably be started with airplanes. In this field France and Germany are the dominant rivals; England drops out.

The French Aero Postale already maintains a combination airplane and steamer passenger service to South America. It is now the ambition of the Aero Postale to eliminate the steamers and to establish an uninterrupted airplane service from Paris, over Africa and the two of the three groups and the Kinloch pitmouth.

Survivors Tell of Blast
The survivors told graphic stories of the blast as they rested at the emergency hospital cots.

William Birkin, attendant of a filling station a mile from the mine, was the first to spread the alarm.

"I was shaving when the explosion came with such force it rocked the filling station. It jerked my hand with such force I cut my face. I ran to spread the alarm."

The mine, a few miles from Parnassus, is on a bleak hillside overlooking the Allegheny river.

The mine has a drift entrance, but in the last few years it has been worked through a shaft. Men trapped in the workings would have egress through the sloping drift opening, but it might be days before they could make their way to that entrance. Mine rubble would bar their way and they would have to get through a maze of tortuous, winding tunnels.

Passed Recent Inspection
They might reach the surface through other workings also. The mine was rock-dusted and had passed the inspection of the bureau of mines with an excellent record.

The explosion occurred one hour after the day shift of approximately 300 miners had gone into the earth. Four miners in the Boyd mine rushed to the surface when the explosion shook the pit in which they were working.

Several miles from the main heading, they were unable to bring word as to the fate of the entombed men.

One explanation of the disaster which reached officials was that the belt of a coal conveyor at the mine's mouth had snapped, hurling the conveyor down the shaft where friction threw a spark in the coal dust, causing the explosion and fire.

Overwhelming clouds of black smoke and swerving flames handicapped the mine rescuers and the rescue squad from the government's bureau of mines.

The tipple was virtually wrecked by the ear-splitting blast that awakened residents of nearby towns and what was left standing was being consumed by flames.

Ottawa—"It is a pity they have acquired so many of our tastes," writes Sergeant O. G. Patty of the Royal Canadian mounted police in the annual report, referring to Eskimos. The officer specifies that Eskimo children who have been to school lose much of their parents' frankness and honor.

READ THE WANT COLUMNS

A Study in Contrasts

According to statistics, it was just ten years ago that the word "flapper" was first used in England to describe a very young girl. America borrowed it, put its own interpretation on it, and made it famous. But does the origin of the word matter? The important thing is that the picture on the left, showing a typical "flapper" of a decade ago, has nothing in common with the contemporary flapper. Judge for yourself. Now in the picture on the right it is really up to us to imagine that the lady possesses certain of her "important" members. But Miss 1929, on the right, leaves no doubt in anybody's mind—she definitely has ankles and arms and legs—and how?

LEETONIA

The Irish members of the local Kiwanis club with R. A. Cavanaugh as chairman, were in charge of the program at the Kiwanis meeting held on Tuesday evening in the Presbyterian church, where the ladies of the church served the dinner.

Following the dinner the club joined in singing a number of well known Irish songs, lead by James S. Hall and T. B. Cope.

Miss Mary Kathryn Cavanaugh gave a reading, "At the Skating Rink" and as an encore, "The Kick Under the Table."

Miss Kathryn Lodge gave a reading, "The Radio," and "at the Dancing School," as an encore.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. John Ruffing, pastor of St. Patrick's church. He gave a historical sketch of St. Patrick and also told of contribution to Irish nation had made in the culture and work of development of the American nation, giving a most entertaining and instructive address.

The attendance prize donated by L. E. Fisher was captured by A. H. Beilhart.

Fifteen of the Kiwanis members expressed their intention of attending a large inter-city Kiwanis meet to be held in Alliance on Thursday evening, March 21, at which time approximately 30 clubs will participate.

Thursday evening a play, "Go Slow, Mary," will be given at the Midway Grange hall by the grange degree team. The characters are: Billy Abbey, a young husband out of a job; Roy McMillan; Mary Abbey, his discontented wife; Theda Peppel; Mrs. Berdon; Mary's mother; Mrs. B. C. Peppel; Sally Carter; Mary's bosom friend; Clara Thompson; Harry Stevens, Sally's sweetheart; Paul Zimmerman; Bart Childs; Billy's friend; Bruce Kessler; Bobby Berdon, Mary's young nephew; a holy terror; Lloyd Holloway; Dolly Berdon, Mary's niece; another holy terror; Alia Brinker; Katie, the Abbey's maid; Twila Zimmerman; Danny Grub, an ice man; a suitor of Katie's; Howard Kessler.

IOWA CRIPPLES GET NEW HOME

Los Angeles Doctor Donates Large Sum For Construction Of Children's School

Des Moines, Mar. 21.—Des Moines' crippled children are more convinced than ever that there's a Santa Claus.

Maybe he does operate from "Sunny California," instead of from the frozen north; maybe he is a couple of months or more behind schedule—but he "fills the bill" just the same.

Dr. D. W. Smouse of Los Angeles, but formerly of Des Moines, has gladdened the hearts of the youngsters, with the twisted little legs, with a gift of a quarter of a million dollars for a new school just for them.

The building, to be known as the "D. W. Smouse Opportunity School" is expected to be ready for occupancy next September.

"It is a token of Mrs. Smouse's and my friendships in Des Moines and in the state of Iowa," wrote the physician to J. W. Studebaker, superintendent of schools here.

"Me and the boy friend"

YOU know them, bless their hearts. A pair of youngsters, really, in spite of their self-reliant air and their fast-vanishing teens. The girl—slim, clear-eyed, merry; the boy—flippant, a bit arrogant, full of secret, earnest plans for success.

They like each other. They go to the movies together, dance, quarrel a bit. They don't believe in early marriages. But her eyes shine when she speaks of him. "Me and the boy friend."

One of these days, suddenly, they'll be grown up. Man and wife, those fearless youngsters. A home to plan, life to face. A budget, a savings account, economies.

They'll make mistakes, but they'll learn quickly. She'll begin to be canny in the spending of money—to question prices and values. She'll begin to read about the things she plans to buy, to find out all she can about them. She'll become a regular reader of advertisements.

They'll help her to become the capable, wise housewife she wants so much to be. They'll tell her what clothes are best and what prices to pay for them. They'll tell her about the foods to buy, the electric appliances, the linoleums and draperies. They'll help her, as the advertisements in this newspaper can help you.

And she'll meet her responsibilities and fulfill her duties easily and well. She won't become a tired, flustered, inefficient drudge. Because her home will be modern, attractive, well-run, she'll keep young—through the speedy years she'll retain much of that shining-eyed, merry frankness. She and the "boy-friend."

Advertisements are wise counselors for housewives, young and old.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, March 21.—Shades of the "ray nineties" are to be seen in the hour-glass figure produced by some of the newest spring models now appearing at the chic couturiers.
But this really means only the half of it—that is the lower portion of the hour-glass figure, for there is little that is reminiscent of the top. Everything fits snugly about the hips, with all the folds and fullness placed well below as trim a waistline as Madame can manage, without looking the least bit "drawn in" and uncomfortable.
One store is showing the modern "Polonaise," which is very picturesque and as becoming to matron as mannequin. One of the most attractive comes in soft printed taffeta, the long bodice quite plain and semi-fitted, and the lower portion arranged in rounded folds brought up nearly to the hips on either side, the selvage edges of the silk forming a rosette at one side.
Evening gowns also hint of this period, particularly one in two shades of yellow and printed taffeta.
Long full panels, often beginning with a row of full organ pleats, get well below the hips, have taken the place of the cheux and huge loops and bows at the back of the skirt of many of these frocks, and there are several models bunched at the back.

NATIONS ENGAGE IN CONTEST FOR MARITIME TITLE

Germany, England Hold
Keen Battle For Speed Record

London, Mar. 21.—Attempts by Germany to wrest the speed record for trans-Atlantic crossings from the Cunard liner Mauretania are destined to meet with stiff opposition from British shipping.

Determined not to permit the new German liners Europa and Bremen to "walk away" with the blue ribbon of the Atlantic, the Mauretania has been especially refitted in secret, to enable her to compete with the great new engines installed in the two German vessels.

Designers of the Europa and Bremen, it is pointed out here, expected opposition from new Cunard and White Star liners now under construction, and the Mauretania, which has held the speed record since 1907, has been left out of the reckoning because her maximum speed has been known to be 25½ knots, while the German vessels will be capable of 27.

Cunard engineers, however, have prepared a surprise. With her new fittings, she will be capable of an astonishing increase in her speed from 25½ to 28 knots, and possibly beyond this, it is said. The ship's own engineers believe that, with favorable sea conditions, they can maintain a steady speed of an even 30 knots.

Engines Rebuilt
These increases in speed have been made possible by a partial reconstruction of the vessel's engines. During the Mauretania's recent two months overhaul at Southampton, the condenser plant was reconstructed and rotary feed pumps were installed in place of reciprocating feed pumps. These changes were to effect a quicker condensation of steam and a swifter feeding of water to the boilers.

They will enable the ship to retain for days a head of steam which she has hitherto possessed only for short bursts of a few hours.

Salem Business College Clinches City League Championship

United Cigars Fail To Play Up To Form In Crucial Contest

Salem Business College won its sixth consecutive victory and incidentally annexed titular honors for the second half of the city league last night by easily defeating the United Cigars, 36-16, at Memorial gym.

The Stogies put up what is probably their worst exhibition of basketball of the season, and failed to threaten the fast-stepping college crew at any time during the fracas. The collegians hopped into an early lead which they maintained throughout.

By virtue of their last night's win, the S. B. C. quintet will clash with the winners of the opening half championship, the Seiberling Tires, for city honors. The game will probably be set for next Tuesday night.

College held a 12-3 margin at the finish of the opening quarter, and was ahead, 20-9 at the half. The third period found neither team able to locate the hoop, and the final session started with the collegians on the top end of the 24-14 count.

If the Cigars played badly in the first three sessions, they looked even worse in the fourth, when they caged a solitary bucket from action, while the opposition looped in 12 points. The Tobies had plenty of chances all through the game to score, but were just unable to connect with the basket.

The defensive play of the losers was also below par, and every member of the college team had little trouble in whizzing in at least one fielder.

GAINED HEALTH AND 12 POUNDS TAKING KONJOLA

Happy Man Had Believed His Case Beyond Relief—New Medicine Gave Him Huge Surprise

MR. FRANK J. MARTIN

"For four years I suffered unspeakable torture from indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism and neuritis," said Mr. Frank J. Martin, 3277 Gilbert Avenue, Cincinnati, O. "My system was so full of poisons and my stomach, liver and kidneys in such bad shape that not a medicine of the scores I had tried showed the least effort. I could not sleep at night, as my kidneys caused me to get up frequently. I was about to give up in despair and disgust, and when Konjola was recommended I was not interested."

"But I kept reading and hearing so much about Konjola that finally, in desperation, I decided to give this new medicine a chance. What a miracle was in store for me! What a revelation Konjola proved to be! In three weeks I had not a sign of rheumatism or neuritis. In four weeks I had not only ceased to lose weight, but had gained twelve pounds. I am feeling simply great throughout my system. I can fairly feel the new life and strength and health surging through me. My friends marvel at the change in my appearance and I am glad to be able to tell them that Konjola belongs all the credit."

Konjola is sold in Salem at J. H. Lease drug stores and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Salem Runner Wins Honors

Freddie Cope Finishes Third In Cleveland Track Meet

Freddie Cope, former Salem High star trackster, now winning honors at Mount Union college, looks as one of Ohio's classiest distance runners, with his stellar performance at the C. A. C. meet in Cleveland last Saturday.

Cope finished but a few paces behind first place, gaining third honors in the fast time of four minutes and 30 seconds, in the mile. Entries from the University of Pennsylvania and Chicago took first and second respectively.

Cope finished far ahead of all other Ohio runners. He is a senior at Mount, and for the last three years has been one of the outstanding cross-country and one and two-mile runners in the state.

He is assisting Coach Wilbur Springer in grooming Salem High candidates for the coming outdoor track season.

Carrigan Has Big Job to Boost Red Sox

If any manager in the big time has a tougher job on his hands for the 1929 season just drop a line to Bill Carrigan, left, manager of the Boston Red Sox. He'd like to meet the gentleman. Not since the glorious days of Smokey Joe Wood, Harry Hooper and Tris Speaker has the Beantown been treated to a real Red Sox outfit. This season doesn't have the appearance of being much better. But you never can tell by looking at a frog just now for he can jump. Take Carroll, right, for instance. He's a pitcher and with Bill behind the bat he'll most likely win some games. And then there's Charles Berry, center, who is a good hitter, but there isn't one real star in the lot. Carrigan is a cagey oldtimer and perhaps he's got something up his sleeve to spring on the boys. Let's root for him anyhow.

With Major Leaguers In Training Camps

Los Angeles—Manager Joe McCarthy and his Cubs were in a mighty happy frame of mind today following their first taste of big league competition. The Detroit Tigers came here yesterday, and were conquered to the tune of 13 to 3. Home runs by Malone, and Cuyler were highlights in the Cubs' 17-hit attack. Sorrell and Carroll did the Detroit pitching.

Dallas, Tex.—Part of the White Sox squad were in McKinney, Tex.

today to play the team that sent Pitcher George Cox to the hose. Those remaining here were to indulge in workouts of the weather permitted. Yesterday's game with the Steers had to be called off on account of rain in the fourth inning with the score standing 3 to 3.

New York—Jack and Estelle Taylor Demsey are house hunting. They are inclined to favor some of the fashionable Long Island communities.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Yale men decide which is best cigarette...

[Reproduced from the Yale News, Jan. 25, 1929]

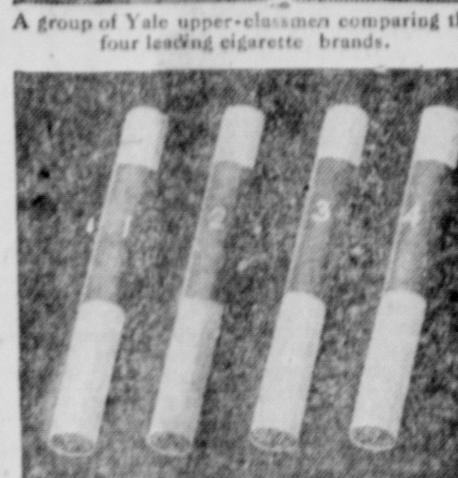

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN
FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

In the recent cigarette test made at the University, Old Golds were chosen by the students as the best. The cigarettes were masked by black labels so that the names of the brands were concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were asked to smoke the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was most appealing to the taste.

The NEWS supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the NEWS office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that Old Gold (Cigarette No. 3) had won. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.

"STOCKS AND BLONDES"

For color, life, heart interest and deft treatment of a novel subject "Stocks and Blondes," an FBO special directed by Dudley Murphy, which opened last night at the Royal Theater takes a high place in the cinema offerings so far this season.

Barnum once said a sucker is born every minute. This story not only indicates he was right, but also shows that the percentage is about the same among the big city slickers as it is among the boys from smaller towns. Nearly everybody who has ever visited a New York night club has had a vague feeling that he has been lucky if he has saved out earfare home. This picture explains why!

With delightful humor and clever pictorial touches, it shows just how the club gets its share and how the blonde club entertainers get theirs. It is a de luxe cold dinner. There are some intensely dramatic moments when the girls get their system of listening to brokers' conversations for stock tips into working order and do their trading through the boy friend of one of them. The scenes shift from the club to brokers' offices, to the New York Stock Exchange. Through it runs a fascinating love story.

"BEHIND THE GERMAN LINES"

Authentic pictures of Baron Manfred von Richthofen, the "Red Knight of Germany," who has been heralded as one of the outstanding individuals produced by the World War, may be seen in Behind the German Lines, the official motion picture history of Germany's participation in the conflict at the Grand Richthofen was the German ace who downed 85 enemy planes before he was himself shot down by Captain Roy Brown of the Canadian Air Force.

The official war pictures have been hailed as the most interesting pictorial history of the war ever shown in this country. The UFA company of Germany was assigned the duty of filming the war on all the fronts by the then Imperial German government and over 100 cameramen followed the German troops in action, of which number over one-fourth were killed. Of particular note is the lack of animosity in the pictures.

The picture shows the very first days of the war, with all Europe arming itself for the four long years of hardship. The first battle of the Marne, supplemented by an animated man is graphically shown, and the reason for the defeat at the very gates of Paris is given. Other battles on all fronts quickly follow, ending with the final rout of the German army by the concentrated drive of the Allied forces in the fall of 1918.

"TIDE OF EMPIRE"

Glorious romance, thunderous adventure, and the dramatic spectacle of the onward march of a new civilization hold away tonight at the State Theatre, where "Tide of Empire," Peter B. Kyne's gigantic romance of the California gold rush is astounding its audiences by the sheer beauty and mighty drama of its story.

This new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle, produced by Cosmopolitan is so huge that it almost staggers description. Its theme is the founding of a modern era of progress and the overthrow of an old civilization. The hardships of the pioneers of the West and the glamor of the days of '49 form the background for the story. Through its plot runs a tender love theme that leaves a haunting imprint on the memory.

Renée Adoree has a fiery role that she handles with consummate artistry. She portrays a daughter of the old Spanish dons in California whose land is menaced by the oncoming horde of barbarian gold seekers and is torn between her hate for the invaders and her love for one of their number. George Duryea gives a splendidly dramatic performance and George Pawcett is a dominant character as Don Jose, one of the last of the Spanish grandees.

Mrs. Gold's dinner for the bridal party is the town topic of conversation. Her elaborate preparations have not been in vain.

Various Kinds of Soups and Their Food Values

All that is soup it not necessarily nourishing, and many of us might have had a pleasant childhood if the soup myth had been punctured long ago. Soup used to be regarded as absolutely essential to at least one meal a day. Nowadays, it is not included unthinkingly in every dinner or luncheon—there's a definite reason for having the kind of soup you have, if any.

Soup is divided into two main classes. First, the clear soups—consomme, broth, bouillon. This is the strained liquid in which meat, fish or vegetables have been cooked.

Nourishing soups are the thick ones, containing all or most of the ingredients with which they were made. Thick soups containing meat, or vegetables or fish; or strained soups to which milk, cream, eggs or a white sauce are added, have a high food value. Indeed, some of these soups are sufficient in themselves for a nourishing luncheon. Rarely are they served as the first course of a large dinner.

The good word that can be said about soup is, that used properly it is likely to be a popular dish rather than a sheer duty. You can combine any number of items to make a very tasty soup. There's nothing quite as helpful for a quick and satisfying lunch and the variety is endless. A Frenchman published a book in 1902 giving recipes for 700 soups—and he was exceeded by a German chef who has recorded almost 2,000 kinds of soup.

What are the nourishing soups? They all fall into one of these groups: First—Soup in which vegetables, or meat, fish or cereals have been cooked and served with these ingredients—all of which have a high food value.

Second—Cream soups, if you cook together, 1 tablespoon of butter, 1 tablespoon of flour, one-quarter teaspoon of salt, 1 cup of milk, adding the milk gradually, and stirring to smoothness, you will have one cup of what is known as "cream sauce." This, added to one cup of liquid strained from cooking any meat, or fish or vegetable, is a cream soup. The clear liquid supplies the flavor, the milk the nourishment, so that cream soups have a definite nutritive quality.

Third—Purées. A soup made by mashing vegetables and blending with the water in which they were cooked. Peas, beans, potatoes, cauliflower—in fact, any starchy vegetables, are suitable. They are cooked very slowly, for several hours, with the addition of some meat and bones to add flavor. This soup is then poured through a course strainer, so that all the pulp can be forced through.

Fourth—Bisque. This word is sometimes applied, incorrectly, to cream soups of vegetables. But what it actually means is, a fish soup to which cream is added. The soup may be strained, or bits of fish, or clams, or oysters, crabmeat, etc., may be left in it. Just before serving, cream is whipped and folded into this liquid, which is then poured into hot cups and served immediately. About one cup of cream is allowed for one quart of liquid.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, March 21.—Basque effects are bringing a charming, quaint touch to many of the new spring models both for day and evening wear.

Old fashioned black faille makes a large number of the tight-fitting little bodices and nearly all have buttons all the way up the front and very fine pleating about the edge. They take the cue back to our great grandmothers' days and make one wonder if such an antique as the terrible corset will come to light again. Basque jackets are certainly only intended for the slim and sylph-like silhouette.

More modern are the gold and silver lame ones, cut on the same lines. Others are beaded all over with the daintiest pearls. An exquisite one is entirely worked in gold embroidery and worn over an ivory-white satin evening gown. The line of the frills dips very low behind and a double bow is attached with the two ends reaching to the ground.

One maker buttons up all of her little basque jackets in the front and puts a narrow little rippling flounce around the edge and often a belt of the same material around the natural waistline. Sometimes a strip of the same, ending in a paddle shape below the waistline, makes the background for the buttons, and sometimes there is a soft belt which is tied in a bow at the back.

There is a charming costume in green shantung with a circular hip-length cape and full skirt with a pointed yoke about the hips, worn with a basque of figured green, red and black crepe de chine which has the soft belt and is cut in two sharp points at the back. Another in red crepe de chine is worn over a white crepe de chine frock. It has little pockets embroidered in opaque white beads.

York, Neb.—A plug of tobacco on which a bite had left a perfect imprint of teeth, was among the few clues officers had to more than 40 unsolved burglaries—unsolved until the sheriff at Aurora at a card game with prisoners invited them to "have a chew." Leon Hudson was the only one to accept. His teeth-prints correspond to those on the clues. Officers said he confessed.

Relief from Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says: "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose. Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. J. H. Lease Drug Co. Eluding Drug Store and Bolger & French.

Cushions for Use or Decoration?

Cushions are like linens—there's no such thing as too many. You can always buy one that strikes you as beautiful, and be sure that it will fit in well, and you are perfectly safe in buying them as gifts because this is one item which is welcome—even if duplicated.

Cushions should be both beautiful to look at and also comfortable to use. Their size also should be adjusted to suit the room. A very large room needs cushions that are large. A few of the proper size are much better than a lot of small ones which look cluttery and disproportionate. But several sizes are usually required so that the little cushion can be placed right under the neck or in the middle of the back, and really encourage relaxation. A very large cushion, twice the size of the average square one, makes a comfortable foot-rest, and is softer in appearance than the upholstered hassock.

For the living room cushions of rive, tapestry, silk, or cretonne are suitable. Materials should be cleanable, because cushions soil quickly, and should always look fresh-looking. Cushions and perfects should have an under surface of leather so that the floor dust can be wiped off easily, and daily, if necessary. Cushions in the living room should not repeat fabrics used for curtains or hangings, but should give a good contrast. Garish colored cushions are quite permissible, if the draperies are subdued in color.

For the man's room, these fabrics are best for cushions. Men do avail themselves of cushion comfort, if they are sure it's all right to use them. Put sturdy cushions in the man's own room, or near his favorite chair in the living room, tell him he can treat 'em rough, and he will begin to enjoy real comfort.

Federal Efforts Seem Crowned With Success

Rebel troops such as these shown at Juarez after capturing the city, were being driven from their strongholds at Durango and Torreon by the brilliant strategy of General Calles and the loyal fighting of the Federal troops under his command. But who can tell, Rebels after capturing Federal and Federal report killing rebels. Three columns of Federals are converging on Viesca (sneeze it), near Torreon, and rebels have routed the Federals near Artega (something to do with blood pressure). The main point is that it is a very nice revolution and you are all invited to come and bring your knitting. Cheerio.

When your child is sleepless.

This remedy rarely fails.

Constipation is a common cause of sleeplessness, both in children and adults. When a child is wakeful and fretful, see if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour, irritating waste. Simply give a dose of "California Fig Syrup" and in a few hours all the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels, and you have no more anxiety over the child's excitability and wakefulness at night. Children love this harmless "fruity" laxative. It banishes biliousness and constipation, regulates the bowels and insures pure blood, a clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and hips to build a strong constitution. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California," so you won't be imposed on by imitators. Adv

Lindy Blazes Air Trails Again

Makes Third Escape

Jack Hart, a lifer at the Maryland penitentiary and Baltimore's arch criminal, who twice before escaped the prison walls, and who boasted "they will never keep me in," made good his third escape from his solitary cell in the Maryland jail. Hart took with him a prisoner serving fifteen years, Jack Brady, who was later captured.

"Trail of Glory Leads But to the Grave"

Once this drum sounded a merry quick step as the Grand Army of the Republic swept victoriously through the land, but for many years it has known only the funeral roll. The flag has rippled more and more at half-staff as the ranks of the survivors of Gettysburg and Bull Run thinned out, and now both have passed into the possession of John H. Boyer, above, Reading, Pa., Civil War veteran, one of the few remaining members of the Grand Army. The Reading Post of the G. A. R. has been dissolved because there are not enough members left to hold a meeting.

Popularity... begins with a Clear Skin

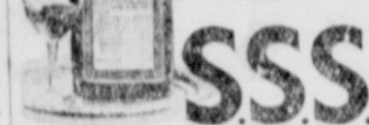

IT'S the person with a clear, smooth, lovely complexion that usually wins.

To be sure, not much is said openly about skin eruptions, but secretly they influence many important affairs. Personal likes and dislikes are quickly formed.

Everybody wants to be attractive. It is a just and natural ambition. A clear skin makes everyone more attractive.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils, eczema and other skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

The sure way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

EIGHTEEN EXPERTS

keep endless vigil

SOHIO quality the product of most modern methods and constant human care

EVERY HOUR of the day and night refining experts are on watch at the two great refining units producing Sohio, guarding Sohio's high quality. Each man in the group pictured above (workers in our Cleveland refinery) is an expert in his own particular field, trained through long years in our own plants. Eleven years is the average length of service of these men.

The extensive equipment erected last year to manufacture Sohio high-test Ethyl Gasoline is the most modern in the petroleum industry. Science has contributed her most delicate instruments to keep constant check on Sohio's unusually high specifications.

In spite of this modern equipment and these extra refining processes, Sohio's uniform high quality is largely dependent on the human care given its manufacture. Millions of gallons of Sohio sold during the first six months of its manufacture prove that the guardians of Sohio quality have kept their trust. The 24 hour vigil of these experts is your assurance of Sohio's continued purity.

Try Sohio in your car—today. Test it any way you wish. Find out for yourself what Sohio's extra purity means to your car's performance. You'll know, then, that there IS a difference in gasoline! For sale at Red-White-and-Blue Standard Service Stations and dealers' pumps everywhere in Ohio.

TRY THIS NEW GASOLINE

- 1 Put it in a car that knocks
- 2 Use it in high-compression motors
- 3 Check your mileage
- 4 Test it for power on hills
- 5 Watch your oil dilution
- 6 Note its starting qualities

RED CROWN GASOLINE—The same standards of care and uniformity also control the manufacture and distribution of Red Crown. We make Red Crown ourselves, in the same great plants that produce Sohio, because our customers are educated to a better grade of fuel than ordinary motor gasolines such as we might buy in the open market.

Mount Machine Guns

Forty planes of the first Self-ridge field pursuit squadron are being hurriedly equipped with machine guns. Major Ralph Royce, commander of the squadron, says that this action can not be linked with the Mexican border trouble. However, since planes are never so equipped except for battle practice, the rumor persists that they are being prepared in the event of a sudden dash to the border.

Divorces Granted; Others Seek Action

Charles R. Crooke, through his counsel, Metzger, McCarthy & McCorkhill has filed an action for divorce in common pleas court against his wife, Katherine R. Crooke of 2730 Churchview ave., Brentwood, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The couple were married at Wellsburg, W. Va., Jan. 16, 1924.

Crooke charges his wife with gross neglect of duty, declaring in his petition the defendant is a careless housekeeper, that she had no interest in her home, and left the plaintiff to take care of himself the best he could.

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, a divorce has been granted the plaintiff in the case of Albert Harris against his wife Myrtle Harris, and upon the payment of the court costs.

After a divorce decree had been awarded the plaintiff in the action filed by Ida May Dillen against her husband, Clinton Dillen, the court awarded the custody of a daughter to the mother, and the custody of a son to the father. The court also decreed that each was to support the child in his or her care without assistance from the other. The decree was granted the plaintiff on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

The divorce action filed by Cora Boyd against her husband George M. Boyd has been dismissed by the court for want of prosecution. The original petition was filed Oct. 2, last.

Berlin—Five new "Jugendherbergen" or inns for youthful hikers have been opened in the March Brandenburg, the smallest with 16, the largest with 70 beds. All these inns afford cooking facilities to the young wanderers.

London—The English motorist is forbidden to park his car with the windows closed and the doors locked. There has been much argument in common law that the law helps thieves.

New York—Pity the poor debutante! As described by newspaper society editors the duties of the "bud" have multiplied tenfold since the war and prices have gone up, yet their families in many cases have not increased their allowance a whit. Therefore some of them are going into trade instead of the whirl of fashion.

Would Lie Awake Nights For Hours

Catarrh of Head and Stomach Almost Wrecked This Man's Health

PAYS GLOWING TRIBUTE NOW TO WORLD'S TONIC

"For fifteen long years I suffered agonies with my stomach, practically all the time until I began taking World's Tonic. For hours after every meal I was racked with pain from head to foot and nothing seemed to relieve me until I took World's Tonic, which I now recommend to everybody else.

"For honestly, I think, it is the greatest medicine on earth," said Mr. R. Anderson, Wellsville, O., in a recent letter to the World's Tonic home office. "Pains in my stomach bothered me and usually it seemed that I had a lump in my stomach. The food I ate did not taste good, my appetite was very poor and I also suffered from Catarrh of the head. Mornings I would wake up with my nose all stopped up and it would require sometime to remove the dry scabs that had formed during the night. I would spit up a great deal of mucus. I became uneasy for fear this catarrh might turn into something worse.

"Many said I suffered from ulcerated stomach which they said was caused from catarrh. I had to take different kinds of physics every night to get my bowels to move. I had bad breath, my skin was yellow, I had indigestion all the time and I fluttering of the heart. Being in this condition so long got on my nerves and I would lie awake for hours at night and was barely able to work the next day. I went this way day after day, week after week, without getting any relief until World's Tonic came into my home. What a blessing it has been for it saved the many hours of good sleep and worry and it has put me in condition so I am able to work with vim.

"I can now eat anything I want without any bad after effects and the catarrh in my head is about gone. In fact, World's Tonic has done everything claimed for it and I had to use only five bottles to obtain all this good result."

Receive Plaudits of France

These two Russian aviators, Tchoukhnowsky, right, and Professor Samoilovitch, whose flights from the rescue ship "Krasin" were largely responsible for discovering the ill-fated Nobile flight survivors, were feted in the Russian embassy at Paris. Nobile has been held to blame by the Italian Government for the wreck of the "Italia" in the lonely wastes of the Arctic.

Waterloo, N. Y.—The name is appropriate for a little military item. Aaron B. Lehr, 87, and William H. Lehr, 88, brothers, who live here, fought in the Civil war. So did their brother Warren, 84, who lives in Charlotte, Mich. A fourth brother, Marcellus A., who also fought for the Union, died in Charlotte last week.
